

Donation Program

Certified Cell and iFixOmaha, along with numerous local partners, are accepting donations of used devices to enable school children around the metro to access their e-learning activities.

In addition to providing children access to free devices, Certified Cell will also be donating profits from all phone sales to the Food Bank for the Heartland. With so many children relying on school-based meal programs, it is essential that no child goes hungry while learning from home during this time of need.

Donating a Device

- Collect any used devices from the boxes and junk drawers around your home
- Yes - we also accept broken devices - iFixOmaha has offered to repair all donated devices at cost!
- Visit www.enableomaha.com to start to your donation
- Safely drop off your devices to one of the participating iFixOmaha locations
- For donations of 5 devices or more, pick up service may be provided

If You Need a Device

- Any donated tablets in good working condition will be made available to school-aged children at no cost
- Visit www.enableomaha.com to request a device
- Provide your information and we will verify with your school
- Any donated phones in good working condition will be sold on www.certifiedcell.com at heavily discounted rates to give people the chance to stay connected during these tough times
- All profits from phone sales will be donated to the Food Bank for the Heartland for the next 60 days
